THEY ARE PICKED MEN

As a matter of fact there never was a time in the history of the nation when the government was quite so particular in the selection of its soldiers as it is today. Every recruit, whether a volunteer or a drafted member of the national army, has been selected with the utmost care. Every one has been subjected to a very rigid physical examination and scores have been rejected because they failed to measure up to the high standard established and adhered to from the very beginning. Most of us are personally acquainted with many of the young men who have gone into the service of world freedom. Some of them went out of our homes. We know that they are clean, high-minded, patriotic young fellows, most of whom have gone into the service from the highest possible motives. That the foul tongue of an ignorant virago should malign such citizens is intolerable.

AN INDEPENDENT LEADER

The late Robert K. Young was a comparatively young man at the time of his death. He would probably have lived another score of years had it not been for the accident by which his hip was broken, some months ago. He was a former member of the legislature from Tioga county, had been auditor general, recently retired from the office of state treasurer and was a member of the public service commission when he died. For many years he had displayed marked independence in politics and during recent years was one of the prominent leaders of the Progressive party. His nomination for state treasurer and his subsequent election came about through the influence of the Progressive element in the state. Those who were affiliated with him and who regarded him as fit leader in their political enterprises will sincerely mourn his death at this time of national crisis.

DUMDUMS

That "Ker" ensky has the tenacity of a regular dog.

Only one thing can be better than this year's Fair program. It is next year's program.

We have a notion that it was the frost that nipped the "Korn"iloff revolution in Russia.

Since the submarines are traveling in bunches it is to be hoped that Uncle Sam will gather them in as he would grapes or huckleberries.

The editorials in the latest issue of the Republican prove our contention that the Democratic Party of Clearfield County is hopelessly disrupted.

Yes, slamming a candidate of your own party is poor policy. The Progress learned this over a year ago but the Republican shows no signs of taking a lesson from our experience though it likes to point it out to us.

School for Soldiers Lesson No. 28

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and direction. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States army to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 28

WHY WE FIGHT

Every American knows the causes of our war with the German government. Yet this course would be incomplete if it did not contain a brief review of the events that finally forced us into war, when at last there remained "no other means of defending our rights.'

The soldier of an autocratic Kaiser may fight best when he understands least of the true meaning of the war. To tell him the facts would be to chill his enthusiasm. But the citizen soldier of a democracy is entitled to know for what purposes he enters the struggle. He fights best when he sees most clearly why he fights.

The resolution of congress declaring a state of war (April 6, 1917) expresses the immediate cause in these few words:

"The Imperial German government has committed repeated acts of war against the government and the people of the United States of America."

Chief among the acts of war were attacks by German submarines on American ships and on unarmed merchant ships of other nations carrying American passengers. "Vessels of every kind," said the President in his address to congress on April 2, 1917 "whatever their flag, their character, their cargo, their destination, their errand, have been ruthlessly sent to the bottom without warning and without thought of help or mercy for those on board, the vessels of friendly neutrals along with those of belligerents. Even hospital ships and ships carrying relief to the sorely bereaved and stricken people of Belgium, though the latter were provided with safe conduct through the prescribed seas by the German government itself and were distinguished by unmistakable marks of identity, have been sunk with the same reckless lack of compassion or of principle * * *. The present German submarine warfare against commerce is a warfare against mankind."

German Insults and Aggressions

There were other acts of hostility in addition to the submarine warfare. In his Flag Day address delivered at Washington on June 14, 1917, the President summed up the events that brought on war as follows:

"It is plain enough how we were forced into the war. The extraordinary insults and aggressions of the Imperial German government left us no self-respecting choice but to take up arms in defense of our rights as a free people and of our honor as a sovereign government. The military masters of Germany denied us the right to be neutral. They filled our cious spies and conspirators and sought to corrupt the opinion of our people in their own behalf. When they found that they could not do that, their agents diligently spread sedition amongst us and sought to draw our own citizens from their allegiance—and some of those agents were men connected with the official embassy of the German government itself here in our capital. They sought by violence to destroy our industries and arrest our commerce. They tried to incite Mexico to take up arms against us and to draw Japan into a hostile alliance with her—and that, not by indirection, but by suggestion from the foreign office in Berlin. They impudently denied us the use of the high seas and repeatedly executed their threat that they would send to their death any of our people who ventured to approach the coasts of Europe."

Our Liberty and Safety Involved

Yet even this list of "extraordinary insults and aggressions" does not tell the whole steory. Our motives for war go even deeper. Not only our rights and self-respect, but our liberty and safety, are involved. Speaking on July 29, 1917, at the officers' training camp at Madison Barracks, N. Y., the secretary of state said:

"The evil character of the German government is laid bare before the world. We know now that that government is inspired with ambitions which menace human liberty, and that to gain its end it does not hesitate to break faith, to violate the most sacred rights, or to perpetrate intolerable acts of inhumanity * * *. Let us understand once for all that this is no war to establish an abstract principle of right. It is a war in which the future of the United States is at stake."

The record out of which grows our deep conviction that it is necessary at once to put a check on so powerful and unscrupulous an enemy is set forth in an official publication "How the War Came to America."

"Judging the German government now in the light of our honest attempt to keep the peace, we could see the great autocracy and read her record through the war. And we found that record damnable. * * * With a fanatical faith in the destiny of German kultur as the system that must rule the world, the Imperial government's actions have through years of boasting, double dealing and deceit tended toward aggression upon the rights of others. And if there still be any doubt as to which nation began this war, there can be no uncertainty as to which one was most prepared, most exultant at the chance and ready instantly to march upon other nations—even those who had given no offense. The wholesale depredations and hideous atrocities in Belgium and in Serbia were doubtless part and parcel with the Imperial governments' purpose to terrorize small nations into adject submission for generations to come. But in this autocracy has been blind. For its record in those countries, and in Poland and in northern France, has given not only to the allies but to liberal peoples throughout the world the conviction that this menace to human liberties must be utterly shorn of its power for harm.

"For the evil is has effected has ranged far out of Europe—out upon the open seas, where its submarines in defiance of law and the concepts of humanity have blown up neutral vessels an covered the waves with the dead and the dying, men and women and children alike. Its agents have conspired against the peace of neutral nations everywhere, sowing the seeds of dissension, ceaselessly endeavoring by tortuous methods of deceit of bribery, false premises and intimidation, to stir up brother nations one against the other, in order that the liberal world might not be able to unite, in order that the autocracy might emerge from the war.

"All this we know from our own experience with the Imperial government. As they have dealt with Europe, so have they dealt with us and with all mankind. And so out of these years the conviction has grown that until the German nation is divested of such, democracy can not be safe."

Not Hostile to German People

One thought which you should keep always in mind is the clear distinction between our attitude toward the Imperial German government and our attitude toward the German people. The President said in his speech of June 14, 1917:

"We are not the enemies of the German people and they are not our enemies. They did not originate or desire this hideous war, or wish that we should be drawn into it; and we are vaguely conscious that we are fighting their cause, as they will some day see it, as well as our own. They are themselves in the grip of the same sinister power that has now at last stretched its ugly talons out and drawn blood from us."

Every American soldier in this war fights for objects deared to all of us than life itself—for freedom and democracy, for the safety of our own homes and families, for the honor of our country. You will think often of these objects during your period of training and after you actually enter the trenches. The more you think about them, the greater will be your pride that you are one of those first chosen to defend them.

"The world must be made safe for democracy."

KNITTING

This war has brought a custom back
that seems to be most fitting,
It was the vogue in grandma's time;
It is the art of knitting.
Our women spend most of their time.
At kniting socks; they say it's fine;
They meet in groups of eight or nine,
Knitting,
Knitting,
Knitting,

This knitting game was something
new to nearly every girl;
She had to learn to cast a stitch, to make a seam and purl.
But now they say its simply rich,
It isn't hard to cast a stitch,
The work goes on without a hitch,
Knitting,
Knitting,
Knitting,

Our women are a loyal crowd, their
work is not for show;
Our soldier boys will sing their praise,
whereever they may go.
This kniting's made an awful hit;
For everybody's doing it;
You can't persuade the girls to quit
Knitting,
Knitting,
Knitting.

Our soldier boys will wear the socks
our girls so kindly knit.
Here's hoping, girls, that you will try
to make a perfect fit.
An awful thing 'twould be, you see,
A misfit sock is misery;
The soldiers all, we fear, would be
Quitting,
Quitting,
Quitting.

To the Republican Voters of Clearfield County.

Gentlemen:—

Owing to the fact that Clearfield county is so large in area and so much more thickly populated than I had thought, I find I am not going to be able to see each party voter personally as I had expected to do when the campaign for the nomination started. Therefore, I take this means through the newspapers of laying certain of my claims before the men of my party throughout Clearfield county. I especially seek this opportunity of explaining what I base my claims upon as the "Laboring Man's Candidate" as I do not wish to be misunderstood or misconstrued unfairly on this point. I would say therefore, that I have always been a laboring man myself and have always been engaged in a business which required much physical labor. I have always stood for labor and upheld its rights and privileges and have always done my best to help the laboring classes, by specially favoring them in my prices. I have felt that in a general way I have been and am worthy of the laboring man's support and in that sense I have used the term "Laboring Man's Candidate," not meaning or claiming that I have as yet been endorsed by any labor organization or have had the privilege of belonging to any such worthy organization. I have therefore used the term "Laboring Man's Candidate" in the sense that I have always favored labor and if elected Sheriff of Clearfield county, propose to see that the laboring classes and organizations shall receive a square deal, honesty and certainly under any and all circumstances.

Yours very sincerely,
WESLEY P. NORRIS.

TAGEBLATT MEN IN SEDITION CASE HELD IN $10,000

Five Detained, One Freed, after More Than Six Hours' Hearing

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14—After a hearing lasting more than six hours, in which strong evidence of distortion of news was offered, five officials of the Tageblatt Publishing association, charged with the publication of seditious matter, were held in $10,000 bail each for court. One of the men, Waldemar Alfredo, was discharged. Those held are Peter Schaeffer, president of the corporation; Louis Werner, editor in chief; Herman Lemke, business manager; Dr. Martin Darkow, managing editor, and Paul Vogel, treasurer.

The case went immediately to the grand jury, which proceeded to examine more than a score of witnesses. The hearing was crowded with members of the Tageblatt staff, relatives of the officials and others.

Among the most remarkable cases of news distortion offered in evidence was an article in which it appeared that almost a third of the casualties in Major General John J. Pershing's force in France had been suicides. The Tageblatt, it was brought out, has no wire service, and its foreign news is for the most part rewritten from papers of this and other cities.

Chairman Root of House Military Committee Presents Official Figures

Washington, Sept. 14—In the belief that the contry does not understand the real strength of the American military and naval forces, Chairman Root, of the House Military Committee, today submitted to the house for publication in the congressional record a statement prepared at his request, by the committee on public information from government records.

"On September 6, 1917," the statement says, "there were in the Regular Army, National Guard and Reserve Corps of the Army 76,828 officers and 741,053 enlisted men.

"In the Navy there were 141,867 enlisted men, 41,473 Naval Reserves and 14,500 of the Naval Militia in the Federal service.

"There were 5,000 men in the Coast Guard and 6,500 in the Hospital Corps making a total of 209,340.

"Enlisted strength of the Marine Corps was 29,971; reserves in the service, 1,070; national naval volunteers, 704; retired men on active duty, 14.

"There were approximately 12,000 officers in the Navy and 1,166 in the Marine corps.

"In other words, on that date, the army had, including officers and enlisted men, 819,881, and the navy 254,265, making a total armed strength on that date of 1,074,146 men, all of whom are volunteers. Prior to that time there was not a drafted soldier in a single training camp.

As maters now stand the Cardinals and the Browns will be the only big leaguers to stage a city series this fall. St. Louis fans sohuld be extended the sympathy of the entire pastiming world.

Despite the abscence of a .300 hitter and a pitcher among the half-dozen topnotchers, the Phillies have been able to show class even if thy don't split any world's series money.

Box scores of the Cubs' games are still printed in Chicago, which shows that the spurt of the White Sox has not lessened interest in the Cubs' game fight to stick in the league.

The 32nd annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in the M. E. church in Curwensville on Thursday and Friday the 6th and 7th of the month.

After the reception and registration of members, Mrs. Hardy led in noontide prayer. Convention then adjourned to partake of a most bountiful dinner provided by the ladies of the Curwensville Union, in the social room of the church.

At 1:30, Conventions was called to order by the President, Mrs. Lillian N. Trezise, of DuBois. Devotional service conducted by Mrs. Mattern, followed the singing of America. Roll call was responded to with a Biblcal or Temperance quotation.

After report of Executive meetings and appointment of Committees, the President delivered a most interesting address, which Convention voted to have published.

Mrs. Elizabeth Denshan, L. T. L. Superintended among other things of interest, told of sending picture cards to the Philippines, to the great delight of the children in that far off land. Flower Mission Superintendent, Mrs. Ella McNaul reported $854.69 used in her department, 864 garments, 14 pair shoes, 64 pounds meat, 50 pounds sugar, 68 meals sent to the needy, beside material to the amount of $39.60, and a couple dozen other article of food in like proportion. Superintendent of Humane Education, Miss Mary Whitehill, reported much work done, which had wonderful effect upon scholars in the schools, also works of mercy; beside distributing 31,000 pages of literature. Fine report of S. T. F. work in the schools given, $51.50 expended in Curwensville and $25.00 in Clearfield. In her department, Mrs. Mary McNaul reported 4 Institutes held during year. Mrs. Miles Wrigley gave good report of mothers' meetings also Mrs. Elizabeth Gates of her department. Good work also reported by Medal Contest Superintendent, Evangelistic, Press, Temperance Literature, Franchise and Jail Work.

At Friday morning's Executive a motion was carried for each Union to hold a meeting for the purpose of concerted action to secure members sent out by National.

There was also presented a "Call to the women of the county to organize for patriotic service" meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. in Clearfield on Tuesday the 11th. Motion to that effect was made and carried, and committee apopinted.

Six new Presidents were introduced to Convention; Mrs. Robb, Mrs. Markle of Mahaffey, Mrs. Hartman, Wallaceton, Mrs. Pentz, Mrs. McKenrick and Mrs. Lawhead of Centre.

On Friday morning devotional was conduced by Mrs. Chorpening. Further reports followed the reading of minutes. One hundred and sixty-six members of Red Cross were reported, many comfort bags made and filled, also bandages made.

Reports of Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer were given, the election of officers took place. with 41 delegates present. Mrs. Hartman led in prayer and voting began; when partially through the call for dinner came, to a most bounteous repast in the social room. After meeting of Central Executive, "Beautiful Hour of Noontide," sung by Mrs. Clark and Mrs Carrie Smith was much enjoyed. Devotional was led by Mrs. S. C. Wilson, who also pleased with reading on clouds and light. Little Miss Murray and Dema Edmiston sweetly recited.

Election resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. Lillian N. Trezise.
Vice President—Mrs. Ella McNaul.
Rec. Sec'y—Mrs. Carrie Smith.
Cor. Sec'y.—Mrs. M. W. Garner.
Treasurer—Mrs. G. W. Mattern.

Miss Rachel Pratt gave an immitable recitation in her race dialect, entitled "The Party." She was twice recalled.

First Pennsylvania W. C. T. U. was held in Phila. in 1873. Last year the gain in state was over 18,000.

After Questionarre by Mrs. S. C. Wilson, Flower Superintendent Mrs. McNaul presented beautiful bouquets to the officers. After prayer by Rev. Joseph W. Cooke, singing "God be with us till we meet again."

Thursday evening the Gold Medal Contest took place with Mrs. Frank H. McCully, Superintendent, presiding Devotional Rev. Joseph Cooke, address of Welcome in behalf of churches by Rev. J. Max Lantz, and address of welcome in behalf of Curwensvill W. C. T. U. by Mrs. Al McNaul, were given in most cordial terms.

The contestants all acquitted themselves admirably. Raymond Witchey won the medal, subject "The Tower of Shame." Presentation in fitting words by Mrs. S. C. Wilson, our very efficient organizer. An interesting playlette was then given by some members of Union and more than a hundred children, entitled "Will you help put down King Alcohol."

Silver offering was taken Closed with "The Star Spangled Banner." Benediction by Rev. T. B. Hawkins.

Lesson XII.—Third Quarter, For Sept. 16. 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Dan. iii, 16-27. Memory Verses, 17, 18—Golden Text, Isa. xliii, 2—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We shall not understand this third chapter of Daniel unless we have grasped in some measure the second chapter. The Bible must be studied as a whole, and each book as a whole, and yet each as an essential part of the whole revelation of God's eternal purpose by His Spirit. As the heavenly bodies of our solar system and all the systems in the universe move in circles, so is it also with God's heavenly truths. The last two chapters in the Bible complete the circle, which begins with the first two, telling of this earth without sin or sorrow or death. The third chapter from the end (Rev. xx) completes the circle which began with Gen. iii, telling of the great adversary, his beginning in relation to the earth and man and his end.

We have seen in recent lessons that we have come in the Bible story to the beginning of what is known as the times of the gentiles, but this book of Daniel covers the whole period and tells us of the end of those times, which we are now in the history of the world approaching or are already in.

In chapter ii we have God's revelation to Nebuchadnezzar of the whole period which began with Him and will end with the setting up of the kingdom of heaven after the times of the gentiles, a kingdom which shall never be destroyed, but shall stand forever, and these things are certain and sure (Dan. ii, 44, 45). In chapter vii we have the same period covered in a vision given to Daniel and ending in the same consummation (Dan. vii, 13, 14, 27). To a man of the world like Nebuchadnezzar the vision was fascinating, as are the things represented by gold and silver and brass and iron to such people, but to a man of God like Daniel the whole thing was represented by wild beasts devouring each other. Chapters iii and vi are another pair showing what it costs to stand for God in these evil times, while chapters iv and v are another pair showing how God will humble all pride, to bring to repentance if at all possible or, if not, to bring to everlasting punishment.

The vision of empire given to Nebuchadnezzar so affected him that instead of making him humble by the honor thus conferred upon him by the God of heaven he became proud in pride and had a great image made and set up in the plain and caused all the people, nation and dom to assemble to worship ening with death in the fiery any who would dare to refuse ship the image which he had Now here is another striking truth, for at the very end of the gentiles during the and a half years after the church been taken away there will be image set up by the world power shall then be, and all who refuse worship that image shall be killed (Rev. xiii, 14-18). The pride and blasphemy of the king of Babylon is in such a saying as "Who is that God that shall deliver you out of my hands?" (iii, 15.) But it will be exceeded by the blasphemy of the antichrist of the last days before he shall be sent alive to the lake of fire (Rev. xiii and xix, 19, 20). Of all the multitudes who were assembled on the plain of Dura that day only three young Jews dared to refuse to bow down to the image, and that was because they knew and worshiped the only Living and True God. When offered a second opportunity to bow down and thus spare their lives they most decidedly refused in the glorious words of verses 17, 18. "May our hearts ever cry, "Our God whom we serve is able."

Bound in their clothing they were cast into the burning fiery furnace, which had been heated seven times hotter than usual, so that the flames slew the men who cast them in. But the three young men walked about in the furnace, unharmed, because the Son of God was with them, and they lost nothing but their bonds. I do most heartily believe what the king's counselors and great men saw when these three came out of the furnace—that there was no smell of fire upon them, nor was a hair of their head singed (verse 27). So it will be in the last days when some shall refuse to receive the mark of the beast or worship him (Rev. xv). See in verses 28-30 of our lesson how God was glorified in these men by the decree of the king that no one should dare to speak anything amiss against a God who could deliver in this way.

The only place where God was seen that day was in the burning fiery furnace, and when God allows any of His people to pass through fiery trials of any kind it is that He may be seen with us and in us, and He will fulfill the words of our Golden Text. In chapter iv we see this proud king humiliated, and the last word in his worldwide epistle is "Those that walk in pride He is able to abase" (iv, 37).

We would do well to adopt as our own the words of Paul in II Tim. iv, 18, "The Lord shall deliver me from every evil work and will preserve me unto His heavenly kingdom" We should remember also that it is the purpose of the Lord to stain the pride of all glory and bring into contempt all the honorable of the earth that the Lord alone may be exalted (Isa. xxiii, 9; ii, 11, 17).

Mr. and Mrs. George Kittleberger of Curwensville, were Clearfield visitors and shoppers yesterday.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

August 10, 1917.
In Camp.

Dearest Mother:—

Arirved safe and sound. Sleep under canvas tonight. My cot will feel like a feather bed. We had a wonderful trip and I enjoyed it very much.

People treated us mighty nice all along the way. We were allowed to get off the train at Hamlet, N. C., to do as we pleased. The ladies gave us all stamped post cards. We all went up town and looked around. At Raleigh, N. C., we got off the train and paraded up and down the streets.

This camp is certainly wonderful. There will be about thirty thousand soldiers when they all get here. It is so much larger than I had imagined. It must cover almost five square miles. Each company has their own wooden mess building and six shower baths. So much of the land will still have to be cleared. Roads have been built all through the camp; trucks are to be seen everywhere. It certainly is an immense scene of activity.

We got into camp about twelve o'clock. The camp is situated about six miles from Augusta. I was put on a detail to unload the freight car and did not get any dinner until almost two. I was pretty hungry. After we had something to eat we commenced to work again, setting up tents, etc. There is a good bit of work to do. About half past four I went down and took a shower bath. It certainly felt good.

The camp is situated on sandy soil, as one fellow said, regular sea shore soil. I have an idea it will be very hot here for a while as it as not cool this afternoon by any means, but I can stand it. They may brag about their good farming land in Virginia and the Carolinas but we didn't see any. Saw lots of cotton and corn, but awfully small and weak looking.

Just write to Camp Hancock, Co. F., 10th Reg., Augusta, Ga., and I will get it all right.

A bunch of the fellows are going to town tonight. I would like to go to see what the town is like, but don't think I will. I need the rest. A trolley runs out here to the camp. I heard that the New York men will camp here also.

I received my comfort bag from the Indiana [illegible]. It contained a metal [illegible]er, soap, Bible, [illegible]eedles, thread, [illegible]dhesive tape [illegible] glad to get [illegible]wn town, [illegible] fellows [illegible]er you [illegible] this. [illegible]ven-

COURT NOTES

The jury in the case of J. L. Ward, of Graham township, against the Supervisors of Morris township, for injuries which his horse received in traveling over a dangerous piece of road in said township last spring, returned a verdict Thursday afternoon in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $138.80. This was the last case on the list for this week and when the verdict was received court adjourned until Monday. Judge Whitehead, of Williamsport, will be here Monday next and will no doubt hand down his decree in the case of Com. vs. E. D. Schwem & Co. This is the case in which the DuBois wholesalers were prosecuted by the Clearfield County Dry Federation for violation of the liquor law in doing business under their 1916 licenses. The case was tried at May court and resulted in a verdict of guilty. Following the verdict attorneys for the defense made a motion for arrest of pudgement, which motion was argued later and Judge Whitehead has not rendered his decision yet.

L. G. Rosenthal, through his attorneys Miller & Hartswick, brought suit in the Prothonotarys' office Friday morning against C. A. Dunlap in which he asks for $1000 as commission due him from Dunlap for the sale of a coal mine in Woodward township.

The plaintiff alleges that he had an agreement with Dunlap whereby he was to receive $1,000 for selling the mine in question. His agreement or option expired March 15th and that he arranged on March 5th to sell the mine to M. M. Hart, of New York, at the agreed-upon price; that in pursuance to this arrangement Hart came to Osceola and the deal was finally consummated on March 16th. Because the deal was not finally completed before the expiration of the agreement Dunlap refused to pay the commission and the suit followed.

ASKS FOR CARTRDGE INQUIRY

BRIG. GEN. WILLIAM CROZIER.

Brigadier-General William Crozier, chief of ordnance in the war department, has asked for a board of inquiry concerning the supply of defective cartridges to those American troops in France. It was found many of the cartridges would not fire because of a wrong mixture of the powder in them.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

A devotee of tea is Tess
She drinks an awful lot I guess
Hyson, Oolong, Orange Pekoe
She dotes upon 'em all you know
They are some teas you must confess
And some tease is pretty Tess

New York, Sept. 14—In those far off halycon days before the war a High tea was a formal function that one dressed for. Nowadays all teas are high and we don't dress for 'em we just pay for 'em. With commendable patriotism we have economized and Hooverized and shaved and pared down our menues to a done until they haven't a leg of lamb to stand on. For white bread we have nothing but black looks and we are growing the changes on corn meal fried much, corn bread and cakes every day in the week. When it comes to interrupting our flow of tea that's a different matter. Consuming tea at present is our consuming passion. What matter if the price be steep you have to steep the tea anyway. Let them put the price up we'll get even by putting the tea down so "Polly put the kettle on we'll all have tea."

A tea cart for the summer porch or the winter hearth is an indispensable adjunct of the modern home. A hostess whose white hands flutter effectively above the silver tea service and the fragile egg-shell tea cups and whose modulated voice coos sweet as the cubes of sugar, "How many lumps?" "Lemon or cream?" and "Do you take rum?" needs no more effective phrases in her conversational bag of tricks to be a scintillating success

The legion of lucious sandwiches, fantastic fairy cakes and tosted muffins, scones and crumpets continue to be popular tea table trimmings but quite the smartest thing to serve with your afternoon tea at the present moment is the war cake in all its eggless milkless, butterless deliciousness.

Sandwiches of the assorted bran, brown and oatmeal war breads are also the well bred thing to serve.

In New York "When in doubt go to tea" is the popular slogan. The tea shops are as numerous as they are attractive. Though the big hotels of course all have their more or less swagger and distinctive rooms given over to the imbibers of the aromatic amber beverage the quaint and tiny tea shops with their home made goodies have a feminine following all their own. Those who wish to see, be seen, gossip, dance, flirt a lot and drink tea a little flock to the smart hotel tea rooms. Those who wish to chat, flirt a little and drink a lot, hie to "The Fernery," "The Tally ho," which is made out of an old stable with the tea served in stalls, "The Colonial," "Vanity Fair," "The Picadilly," "The Pierrot," "The Sign of the Green Tea Pot," "Mary Elizabeth," "The Rose Tea Shop," "The Roof Tree" "The Tea Cosy," "The Chimney Corner," "The Sign of the Green Parrot," or any other one of the sixty seven varieties of tea shops that infest Manhattan ways and byways.

Down in some of the South American countries they have a tea all their own so the high cost of shipping tea from China and Ceylon for the nonce means nothing in their five o'clock Tea Hour. This South American tea which is made from the dried leaves of a tree which grows in the forest fastness of Uruguay is called Yerbe and is made by pouring boiling water on a tea spoonful of the pulverized leaves and sugar. It is prepared in a small dried gourd and drunk through a silver tube which has perforations in the bottom that act as a strainer.

The gourd and tube are called a "mate" and the tea with the service is "mate' yerbe" just as we say a "cup of tea." Many of the gourds are most elaborately banded and ornamented in silver and the tubes also are usually of the pure silver elegantly chased The older generations of the natives and the "rancheros" or cowboys have a delightfully unsanitary custom of refilling the same gourd with hot water and passed it around in turn to all parties present for a suck through the same tube

This yerbe tea possesses most beneficial and strengthening qualities and none of the evil tannin of our own tea It has been introduced in the English and French armies with great success

Who knows if the price of tea continues to soar we may get soar and take to yerbe yet. But at least we'll insist on an individual gour and tube at each tea party.

The 79th session of the Allegheny annual conference of the United Brethren in Christ will convene in Johnstown, Pa, September 19, 1917 at 9 o'clock a m Bishop W. M. Bell of Washington, D. C., will preside Rev. B. J. Hummel will leave on Monday evening and the delegate G L Barger will go on Tuesday

The Variety of Millinery Shown Here Is Sure to cover Please Every Taste

Because of our extreme care in studying fashions and making selection of millinery that would best accompany them, women are regarding our collections as supreme for style and variety. We doubt if any PRETTY hat has been overlooked. And there are so many shapes and so many exclusive trimming features that it is hard to think of you not finding a shape best suited to your face.

Here are the draped crown effects, sailors, tams and the equally striking small, no-brim shapes. Velvets are equally as prominent. In a word, the showing is well worth an immediate visit to the store to prove to yourself the superiority of variety, style and price.

VOLUME XII. CLEARFIELD, PENNSYLVANIA, SATURDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER, 15, 1917 NUMBER

ALMOST ONE HUNDRED SOLDIERS WILL LEAVE CLEARFIELD FOR CAMP LEE ON WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 19

Late Instructions From Headquarters Increases Number Who Are to Go From Dist. No. 1 in Second Call

WILL ENTRAIN WEDNESDAY AT 1.15

District No. 1's contribution to the new National Army on Wednesday, September 19th will be very much greater than the asked for forty per cent. if present plans work out. Under the original plan or direction of the war department forty per cent. of the district quota was to be supplied on Wednesday, but on account of the fact that many boards throughout the state are away behind with their work it was found that a number of districts would not be able to furnish the number of men needed or required at that time.

It is absolutely necessary that the state's full share shall be sent to the training camps on this date and accordingly the districts which are well along with their work will be asked to add as many men as possible to the forty per cent call.

The local board has been doing excellent work and as a result instead of being asked for 84 men on Wednesday next expect to send at least 25 more than that number to Camp Lee.

Thus far the District Board has certified back to the local board the names of 157 men and these men are now subject to military duty when called. Of this 157 twenty men appealed from the finding of the local board. Of these twenty appeals the District Board has already acted upon eleven as was published in The Progress last evening. Of these claims two were granted exemption while the decision of the local board was allowed to stand in the other nine. Final action has not been taken on the remaining nine appeals as yet. As those appealing have all been certified back originally they are subject to call for service by the local board, if they so will it, and pending final disposition of their appeals must present themselves for service and go to the training camp: should their appeal be decided in their favor they would be released from service on receipt of word of the District Board's action.

Eleven of the 157 have already been sent to Camp Lee, nine others have appeals pending and as no negros are to be sent with this call and there are three colored men on the list, following are the names of those who will be called for service and sent to Camp Lee on the 19th:

High Military Honors For General Stewart

All State Offices Closed Today In Honor of Stewart and Young

Harrisburg, Sept. 15.—With high civil and military honors the body of General Thomas J. Stewart was conveyed to the Reading station from his home where it will leave on the 10:15 train for Norristown. The body will lay in state from two until three this afternoon in the Norristown Masonic Temple. Funeral services will be conducted by the Norristown Masons. Governor Brumbaugh as chief of state civil and military forces headed the funeral cortege. A special escort for the dead General was a Company of the 7th U. S. Infantry sent from Gettysburg in a special train. Numerous high officers and close friends of the General also attended. Attorney General Brown, who with Governor Brumbaugh attended the funeral service last evening went to Wellsboro today as the official representative of Governor Brumbaugh at the funeral of Public Service Commission Robert K. Young. All the capital offices were closed today in honor of the two dead officials.

GERMAN PAPER SUGGESTS TREATMENT

By John Granden

Berlin via London, Sept. 15.—The Vorwaerts today suggested the "spurlos versenkt" treatment for Count Luxburg, German minister to Buenos Ayres. His intentions were of the best, the editorial declared, but he was too tempermental. He should be recalled and left "spurlos versenkt."

Spurlos versenkt means sunk without a trace. It was Luxburg's own term in advising Germany to sink certain Argentine ships without a trace as revealed by the American State Department.

RUSSIAN TROOPS IN NORTH ACTIVE

Petrograd, September 15.—Russian troops continued their offensive on the northern front today. The war office today announced occupancy of Kronberg together with the capture of a number of prisoners and it also stated the Russians had advanced forward 2-3ds of a mile.

LOCAL W. C. T. U. MET LAST NIGHT

An interesting session of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Bouton yesterday evening. The meeting was open to considerable discussion.

In her report the Treasurer, Mrs. Howard gave receipts from all sources $152.53, of which $123.68 was used for work. Report of Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Chorpening, gave general status of Union. Good reports of Jail Work, Flower Department, reporting 450 and 40 garments, Soldiers and Sailors Work showed 50 comfort bags made and filled. Refreshments were also served, on Memorial Day, to the Soldiers, both old and new.

Mrs. McCord, one of the Committee appointed to attend the patriotic meeting of Council of National Defense, read the published report of the same. The "Compensation Act" was also read. A letter from a church publication from Washington, was read by Mrs. Deitzel, telling of evil conditions in the capital city, and of the lack of proper police regulations; it was advised to write a letter to Secretary of War Baker, as desired by author. Mrs. Chorpening was elected delegate to State Convention at Greensburg, Oct. 4 to 8.

PATRICK GILDAY, LABOR LEADER, PASSES AWAY

Closes Career of Useful Citizen Respected by Capital and Labor Alike in His Chosen Work

HONORED BY PRESID'T WILSON

Partick Gilday, of Morrisdale, former President of District No. 2, U. M. W. of A., passed away last evening at the Clearfield hospital following an illness of several months duration. Mr. Gilday had been in failing health for the past two years and realized a few months ago that his health was seriously affected. He was suffering from gall bladder affection and following a consultation with a Buffalo specialist entered the Clearfield hospital on Friday of last week for an operation in the hope of getting relief.

He was operated upon on Monday last and despite the fact that his condition was found to be extremely critical he rallied nicely and was apparently getting along finely until Friday morning when he experienced a sinking spell which resulted in a veritable collapse and his death followed as above stated.

Patrick Gilday was one of the best known men in Central Pennsylvania and possessed a large circle of admiring friends. He was above the average in intelligence and arose by sheer ability from the ranks of the coal miner to important positions of trust and confidence in state and nation.

He was President of District No. 2 for many years and had a most enviable record as a labor leader. He resigned his arduous duties in this field at the call of President Wilson to act as a National Mediator in disputes between capital and labor, and was engaged in and had much to do with the satisfactory adjustment of the Danbury hatters case and the Colorado mining war.

More than two years ago he was named by Governor Brumbaugh as head of the State Board of Conciliation or Arbitration and by his labors and wise counsel did much to bring about a better understanding between employer and employee in many wage disputes throughout the state.

He was strictly and unswervingly honest and upright in his dealings at all times and leaves behind him a record of achievements that any man might well be proud to leave as a heirtage to his children.

He was twice married and is survived by a sorrowing widow and seven children and also leaves five children by his first marriage. Funeral arrangements have not been completed as yet.

MEXICO IS NOT INTERESTED

(By United Press)

Mexico City, Sept. 15—Mexico will take no action in Eckhardt's recent affair unless the United States makes further disclosures dealing directly with the Mexican government. Such was the policy as announced by high authorities here. The United Press was advised that the revelations were "not of official interest." Former Swedish Charge Cromholm is still in hiding today and the German minister who found the American revelation "damnably uninteresting" was also in hiding today. The Elpueblo, however, today printed an interview with the German Charge in which he declared that he did not recommend Cromholm for decorations. He said Cromholm was only an acquaintance having met him in official circles and had no further relations with him.

JAPAN TO COOPERATE

Washington, Sept. 15.—Japan will divert as much traffic as she can to Atlantic routes. Arrangements are now being made between Japan and the Allies and the program will be announced in a few days. Japanese ship yards will build ships for Great Britain and Japan also intends to transport supplies from the United States over the Pacific to Russia.

Mirkin's store will be closed all day Monday in order to observe holidays. Open at 6 p. m. as usual.

Freighter Reports Sub Off Nantucket Coast

Heard Attacked Merchantmen Calling For Help on Wireless

An Atlantic Port, Sept. 15.—A British freighter which arrived here today declared that she had received a wireless message saying that a submarine had been attacking a merchant steamer within 100 miles of Nantucket. Not all the words in the intercepted message were decipherable. Another British freighter which arrived declared that she had received wireless messages that a German submarine was attacking a merchant ship near the New England coast. Another message received said a submarine had been sighted when the position was about to be given the transmitting ceased. Efforts to locate the vessel were fruitless.

The British steamer arrived at port at noon today. The Captain went ashore immediately to report to the owner of the vessel. It was understood, however, that under instructions from the Navy Department in Washington he would be unable to tell his story until all the details had been forwarded to Secretary Daniels.

Band Meeting Called For Friday Evening

Town Meeting Will Discuss Matter Of Organization Of Clearfield Band

Fourteen members of the old [illegible] Regiment band met in the band room on Fourth street last evening and according to announcement in The Progress and after discussing the matter of the organization of a band at this time and listening to the remarks of Atty. Betts, Esq., regarding the [illegible] for a good band at the county seat decided they were ready to [illegible] band organized, providing our people would give such an organization their support.

It was the concensus of opinion as the question of a band was a matter for all the people it would be proper thing to call a town meeting at a later date to give every person disposed an opportunity to give their views on the band proposition. Accordingly it was decided to hold such meeting in the arbitration room of the court house Friday evening next week at which time all public spirited citizens are requested to be present.

We will have more to say on this subject at a later date.

Attorney General Warns Against Desecration of National Emblem

President Desires Rigid Observance of All Rules Governing Flying of Old Glory

By George Martin
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 15.—Warning against desecration of the American flag by enemy aliens and an order for their summary arrest and punishment has been issued by Attorney General Gregory and is in the hands of U. S. Attorneys through the country today.

"Any alien enemy tearing down, mutilating, abusing or desecrating the United States flag in any way," says the order, "will be regarded as a danger to the public peace or safety and will be subject to summary arrest and punishment."

In this connection Adjutant General McCan has issued a pamphlet devoted to the traditions and uses of the Stars and Stripes for the information of the general public.

There is neither federal law nor rule for the manner in which the civil population displays, hangs or salutes the flag, General McCain pointed out. Such rules as there are apply only to the army and navy.

"The only national laws there are governing the use of the flag," said he, "are those providing that 'no trade mark can be registered using the flag, coat of arms or other insignia of the United States or any simulation thereof' and providing penalties for misuse of thet emblem 'within the district of Columbia'." There are, however, state laws governing the use or abuse of the flag.

The Atorney General's order takes its authority from section 12 of President Wilson's proclamation of April 6, 1917, concerning the activities and government of enemy aliens.

"In the army," said General McCain "it is the practice, each day regardless of weather, to hoist the flag briskly at sunrise and lower it slowly and ceremoniously at sunset, indicating commencement and cessation of the activities of the day.

"It is displayed at half mast Memorial Day, May 30, until noon, and at full mast from noon until sunset. This also is done on other days named by army authorities from time to time. The flag is always hoisted to full mast before being lowered to half mast."

General McCain recommends that the flag should never be used except on a flag pole. For purposes of decoration he recommends bunting, but never the flag.

"If you must use it for decorative purposes other than on a pole," said McCain, "it should always be hung flat, with the union to the north or east. However, it should not be displayed horizontally or laid flat.

"Under no circumstances should it be hungh where it will be contaminated, or be draped over chairs or benches. No objects or emblems of any kind should be placed above upon it.

"There is no objection to flying the flag at night on civilian property if it is not done for advertising purposes.

"The flag is generally displayed on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, Mother's Day, Memorial Day, Flag Day and Independence Day.

"Where several flags or emblems are displayed, the American flag should be in the center at the top. In any parade the flag should have the place of honor.

"The flag should never be displayed with the union down except as a signal of distress at sea.

"Old or worn flags should not be used, ever. They should be burned privately, without irreverance or disrespect.

"These views are merely suggestions and not authoritative."

EDITORIAL

THEY ARE PICKED MEN

As a matter of fact there never was a time in the history of the nation when the government was quite so particular in the selection of its soldiers as it is today. Every recruit, whether a volunteer or a drafted member of the national army, has been selected with the utmost care. Every one has been subjected to a very rigid physical examination and scores have been rejected because they failed to measure up to the high standard established and adhered to from the very beginning. Most of us are personally acquainted with many of the young men who have gone into the service of world freedom. Some of them went out of our homes. We know that they are clean, high-minded, patriotic young fellows, most of whom have gone into the service from the highest possible motives. That the foul tongue of an ignorant virago should malign such citizens is intolerable.

AN INDEPENDENT LEADER

The late Robert K. Young was a comparatively young man at the time of his death. He would probably have lived another score of years had it not been for the accident by which his hip was broken, some months ago. He was a former member of the legislature from Tioga county, had been auditor general, recently retired from the office of state treasurer and was a member of the public service commission when he died. For many years he had displayed marked independence in politics and during recent years was one of the prominent leaders of the Progressive party. His nomination for state treasurer and his subsequent election came about through the influence of the Progressive element in the state. Those who were affiliated with him and who regarded him as fit leader in their political enterprises will sincerely mourn his death at this time of national crisis.

DUMDUMS

That "Ker" ensky has the tenacity of a regular dog.

Only one thing can be better than this year's Fair program. It is next year's program.

We have a notion that it was the frost that nipped the "Korn"iloff revolution in Russia.

Since the submarines are traveling in bunches it is to be hoped that Uncle Sam will gather them in as he would grapes or huckleberries.

The editorials in the latest issue of the Republican prove our contention that the Democratic Party of Clearfield County is hopelessly disrupted.

Yes, slamming a candidate of your own party is poor policy. The Progress learned this over a year ago but the Republican shows no signs of taking a lesson from our experience though it likes to point it out to us.

School for Soldiers Lesson No. 28

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and direction. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States army to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 28

WHY WE FIGHT

Every American knows the causes of our war with the German government. Yet this course would be incomplete if it did not contain a brief review of the events that finally forced us into war, when at last there remained "no other means of defending our rights.'

The soldier of an autocratic Kaiser may fight best when he understands least of the true meaning of the war. To tell him the facts would be to chill his enthusiasm. But the citizen soldier of a democracy is entitled to know for what purposes he enters the struggle. He fights best when he sees most clearly why he fights.

The resolution of congress declaring a state of war (April 6, 1917) expresses the immediate cause in these few words:

"The Imperial German government has committed repeated acts of war against the government and the people of the United States of America."

Chief among the acts of war were attacks by German submarines on American ships and on unarmed merchant ships of other nations carrying American passengers. "Vessels of every kind," said the President in his address to congress on April 2, 1917 "whatever their flag, their character, their cargo, their destination, their errand, have been ruthlessly sent to the bottom without warning and without thought of help or mercy for those on board, the vessels of friendly neutrals along with those of belligerents. Even hospital ships and ships carrying relief to the sorely bereaved and stricken people of Belgium, though the latter were provided with safe conduct through the prescribed seas by the German government itself and were distinguished by unmistakable marks of identity, have been sunk with the same reckless lack of compassion or of principle * * *. The present German submarine warfare against commerce is a warfare against mankind."

German Insults and Aggressions

There were other acts of hostility in addition to the submarine warfare. In his Flag Day address delivered at Washington on June 14, 1917, the President summed up the events that brought on war as follows:

"It is plain enough how we were forced into the war. The extraordinary insults and aggressions of the Imperial German government left us no self-respecting choice but to take up arms in defense of our rights as a free people and of our honor as a sovereign government. The military masters of Germany denied us the right to be neutral. They filled our cious spies and conspirators and sought to corrupt the opinion of our people in their own behalf. When they found that they could not do that, their agents diligently spread sedition amongst us and sought to draw our own citizens from their allegiance—and some of those agents were men connected with the official embassy of the German government itself here in our capital. They sought by violence to destroy our industries and arrest our commerce. They tried to incite Mexico to take up arms against us and to draw Japan into a hostile alliance with her—and that, not by indirection, but by suggestion from the foreign office in Berlin. They impudently denied us the use of the high seas and repeatedly executed their threat that they would send to their death any of our people who ventured to approach the coasts of Europe."

Our Liberty and Safety Involved

Yet even this list of "extraordinary insults and aggressions" does not tell the whole steory. Our motives for war go even deeper. Not only our rights and self-respect, but our liberty and safety, are involved. Speaking on July 29, 1917, at the officers' training camp at Madison Barracks, N. Y., the secretary of state said:

"The evil character of the German government is laid bare before the world. We know now that that government is inspired with ambitions which menace human liberty, and that to gain its end it does not hesitate to break faith, to violate the most sacred rights, or to perpetrate intolerable acts of inhumanity * * *. Let us understand once for all that this is no war to establish an abstract principle of right. It is a war in which the future of the United States is at stake."

The record out of which grows our deep conviction that it is necessary at once to put a check on so powerful and unscrupulous an enemy is set forth in an official publication "How the War Came to America."

"Judging the German government now in the light of our honest attempt to keep the peace, we could see the great autocracy and read her record through the war. And we found that record damnable. * * * With a fanatical faith in the destiny of German kultur as the system that must rule the world, the Imperial government's actions have through years of boasting, double dealing and deceit tended toward aggression upon the rights of others. And if there still be any doubt as to which nation began this war, there can be no uncertainty as to which one was most prepared, most exultant at the chance and ready instantly to march upon other nations—even those who had given no offense. The wholesale depredations and hideous atrocities in Belgium and in Serbia were doubtless part and parcel with the Imperial governments' purpose to terrorize small nations into adject submission for generations to come. But in this autocracy has been blind. For its record in those countries, and in Poland and in northern France, has given not only to the allies but to liberal peoples throughout the world the conviction that this menace to human liberties must be utterly shorn of its power for harm.

"For the evil is has effected has ranged far out of Europe—out upon the open seas, where its submarines in defiance of law and the concepts of humanity have blown up neutral vessels an covered the waves with the dead and the dying, men and women and children alike. Its agents have conspired against the peace of neutral nations everywhere, sowing the seeds of dissension, ceaselessly endeavoring by tortuous methods of deceit of bribery, false premises and intimidation, to stir up brother nations one against the other, in order that the liberal world might not be able to unite, in order that the autocracy might emerge from the war.

"All this we know from our own experience with the Imperial government. As they have dealt with Europe, so have they dealt with us and with all mankind. And so out of these years the conviction has grown that until the German nation is divested of such, democracy can not be safe."

Not Hostile to German People

One thought which you should keep always in mind is the clear distinction between our attitude toward the Imperial German government and our attitude toward the German people. The President said in his speech of June 14, 1917:

"We are not the enemies of the German people and they are not our enemies. They did not originate or desire this hideous war, or wish that we should be drawn into it; and we are vaguely conscious that we are fighting their cause, as they will some day see it, as well as our own. They are themselves in the grip of the same sinister power that has now at last stretched its ugly talons out and drawn blood from us."

Every American soldier in this war fights for objects deared to all of us than life itself—for freedom and democracy, for the safety of our own homes and families, for the honor of our country. You will think often of these objects during your period of training and after you actually enter the trenches. The more you think about them, the greater will be your pride that you are one of those first chosen to defend them.

"The world must be made safe for democracy."

KNITTING

This war has brought a custom back
that seems to be most fitting,
It was the vogue in grandma's time;
It is the art of knitting.
Our women spend most of their time.
At kniting socks; they say it's fine;
They meet in groups of eight or nine,
Knitting,
Knitting,
Knitting,

This knitting game was something
new to nearly every girl;
She had to learn to cast a stitch, to make a seam and purl.
But now they say its simply rich,
It isn't hard to cast a stitch,
The work goes on without a hitch,
Knitting,
Knitting,
Knitting,

Our women are a loyal crowd, their
work is not for show;
Our soldier boys will sing their praise,
whereever they may go.
This kniting's made an awful hit;
For everybody's doing it;
You can't persuade the girls to quit
Knitting,
Knitting,
Knitting.

Our soldier boys will wear the socks
our girls so kindly knit.
Here's hoping, girls, that you will try
to make a perfect fit.
An awful thing 'twould be, you see,
A misfit sock is misery;
The soldiers all, we fear, would be
Quitting,
Quitting,
Quitting.

To the Republican Voters of Clearfield County.

Gentlemen:—

Owing to the fact that Clearfield county is so large in area and so much more thickly populated than I had thought, I find I am not going to be able to see each party voter personally as I had expected to do when the campaign for the nomination started. Therefore, I take this means through the newspapers of laying certain of my claims before the men of my party throughout Clearfield county. I especially seek this opportunity of explaining what I base my claims upon as the "Laboring Man's Candidate" as I do not wish to be misunderstood or misconstrued unfairly on this point. I would say therefore, that I have always been a laboring man myself and have always been engaged in a business which required much physical labor. I have always stood for labor and upheld its rights and privileges and have always done my best to help the laboring classes, by specially favoring them in my prices. I have felt that in a general way I have been and am worthy of the laboring man's support and in that sense I have used the term "Laboring Man's Candidate," not meaning or claiming that I have as yet been endorsed by any labor organization or have had the privilege of belonging to any such worthy organization. I have therefore used the term "Laboring Man's Candidate" in the sense that I have always favored labor and if elected Sheriff of Clearfield county, propose to see that the laboring classes and organizations shall receive a square deal, honesty and certainly under any and all circumstances.

Yours very sincerely,
WESLEY P. NORRIS.

TAGEBLATT MEN IN SEDITION CASE HELD IN $10,000

Five Detained, One Freed, after More Than Six Hours' Hearing

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14—After a hearing lasting more than six hours, in which strong evidence of distortion of news was offered, five officials of the Tageblatt Publishing association, charged with the publication of seditious matter, were held in $10,000 bail each for court. One of the men, Waldemar Alfredo, was discharged. Those held are Peter Schaeffer, president of the corporation; Louis Werner, editor in chief; Herman Lemke, business manager; Dr. Martin Darkow, managing editor, and Paul Vogel, treasurer.

The case went immediately to the grand jury, which proceeded to examine more than a score of witnesses. The hearing was crowded with members of the Tageblatt staff, relatives of the officials and others.

Among the most remarkable cases of news distortion offered in evidence was an article in which it appeared that almost a third of the casualties in Major General John J. Pershing's force in France had been suicides. The Tageblatt, it was brought out, has no wire service, and its foreign news is for the most part rewritten from papers of this and other cities.

Chairman Root of House Military Committee Presents Official Figures

Washington, Sept. 14—In the belief that the contry does not understand the real strength of the American military and naval forces, Chairman Root, of the House Military Committee, today submitted to the house for publication in the congressional record a statement prepared at his request, by the committee on public information from government records.

"On September 6, 1917," the statement says, "there were in the Regular Army, National Guard and Reserve Corps of the Army 76,828 officers and 741,053 enlisted men.

"In the Navy there were 141,867 enlisted men, 41,473 Naval Reserves and 14,500 of the Naval Militia in the Federal service.

"There were 5,000 men in the Coast Guard and 6,500 in the Hospital Corps making a total of 209,340.

"Enlisted strength of the Marine Corps was 29,971; reserves in the service, 1,070; national naval volunteers, 704; retired men on active duty, 14.

"There were approximately 12,000 officers in the Navy and 1,166 in the Marine corps.

"In other words, on that date, the army had, including officers and enlisted men, 819,881, and the navy 254,265, making a total armed strength on that date of 1,074,146 men, all of whom are volunteers. Prior to that time there was not a drafted soldier in a single training camp.

As maters now stand the Cardinals and the Browns will be the only big leaguers to stage a city series this fall. St. Louis fans sohuld be extended the sympathy of the entire pastiming world.

Despite the abscence of a .300 hitter and a pitcher among the half-dozen topnotchers, the Phillies have been able to show class even if thy don't split any world's series money.

Box scores of the Cubs' games are still printed in Chicago, which shows that the spurt of the White Sox has not lessened interest in the Cubs' game fight to stick in the league.

Report of the W.C.T.U. Curwensville Meeting

The 32nd annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in the M. E. church in Curwensville on Thursday and Friday the 6th and 7th of the month.

After the reception and registration of members, Mrs. Hardy led in noontide prayer. Convention then adjourned to partake of a most bountiful dinner provided by the ladies of the Curwensville Union, in the social room of the church.

At 1:30, Conventions was called to order by the President, Mrs. Lillian N. Trezise, of DuBois. Devotional service conducted by Mrs. Mattern, followed the singing of America. Roll call was responded to with a Biblcal or Temperance quotation.

After report of Executive meetings and appointment of Committees, the President delivered a most interesting address, which Convention voted to have published.

Mrs. Elizabeth Denshan, L. T. L. Superintended among other things of interest, told of sending picture cards to the Philippines, to the great delight of the children in that far off land. Flower Mission Superintendent, Mrs. Ella McNaul reported $854.69 used in her department, 864 garments, 14 pair shoes, 64 pounds meat, 50 pounds sugar, 68 meals sent to the needy, beside material to the amount of $39.60, and a couple dozen other article of food in like proportion. Superintendent of Humane Education, Miss Mary Whitehill, reported much work done, which had wonderful effect upon scholars in the schools, also works of mercy; beside distributing 31,000 pages of literature. Fine report of S. T. F. work in the schools given, $51.50 expended in Curwensville and $25.00 in Clearfield. In her department, Mrs. Mary McNaul reported 4 Institutes held during year. Mrs. Miles Wrigley gave good report of mothers' meetings also Mrs. Elizabeth Gates of her department. Good work also reported by Medal Contest Superintendent, Evangelistic, Press, Temperance Literature, Franchise and Jail Work.

At Friday morning's Executive a motion was carried for each Union to hold a meeting for the purpose of concerted action to secure members sent out by National.

There was also presented a "Call to the women of the county to organize for patriotic service" meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. in Clearfield on Tuesday the 11th. Motion to that effect was made and carried, and committee apopinted.

Six new Presidents were introduced to Convention; Mrs. Robb, Mrs. Markle of Mahaffey, Mrs. Hartman, Wallaceton, Mrs. Pentz, Mrs. McKenrick and Mrs. Lawhead of Centre.

On Friday morning devotional was conduced by Mrs. Chorpening. Further reports followed the reading of minutes. One hundred and sixty-six members of Red Cross were reported, many comfort bags made and filled, also bandages made.

Reports of Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer were given, the election of officers took place. with 41 delegates present. Mrs. Hartman led in prayer and voting began; when partially through the call for dinner came, to a most bounteous repast in the social room. After meeting of Central Executive, "Beautiful Hour of Noontide," sung by Mrs. Clark and Mrs Carrie Smith was much enjoyed. Devotional was led by Mrs. S. C. Wilson, who also pleased with reading on clouds and light. Little Miss Murray and Dema Edmiston sweetly recited.

Election resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. Lillian N. Trezise.
Vice President—Mrs. Ella McNaul.
Rec. Sec'y—Mrs. Carrie Smith.
Cor. Sec'y.—Mrs. M. W. Garner.
Treasurer—Mrs. G. W. Mattern.

Miss Rachel Pratt gave an immitable recitation in her race dialect, entitled "The Party." She was twice recalled.

First Pennsylvania W. C. T. U. was held in Phila. in 1873. Last year the gain in state was over 18,000.

After Questionarre by Mrs. S. C. Wilson, Flower Superintendent Mrs. McNaul presented beautiful bouquets to the officers. After prayer by Rev. Joseph W. Cooke, singing "God be with us till we meet again."

Lesson XII.—Third Quarter, For Sept. 16. 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Dan. iii, 16-27. Memory Verses, 17, 18—Golden Text, Isa. xliii, 2—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We shall not understand this third chapter of Daniel unless we have grasped in some measure the second chapter. The Bible must be studied as a whole, and each book as a whole, and yet each as an essential part of the whole revelation of God's eternal purpose by His Spirit. As the heavenly bodies of our solar system and all the systems in the universe move in circles, so is it also with God's heavenly truths. The last two chapters in the Bible complete the circle, which begins with the first two, telling of this earth without sin or sorrow or death. The third chapter from the end (Rev. xx) completes the circle which began with Gen. iii, telling of the great adversary, his beginning in relation to the earth and man and his end.

We have seen in recent lessons that we have come in the Bible story to the beginning of what is known as the times of the gentiles, but this book of Daniel covers the whole period and tells us of the end of those times, which we are now in the history of the world approaching or are already in.

In chapter ii we have God's revelation to Nebuchadnezzar of the whole period which began with Him and will end with the setting up of the kingdom of heaven after the times of the gentiles, a kingdom which shall never be destroyed, but shall stand forever, and these things are certain and sure (Dan. ii, 44, 45). In chapter vii we have the same period covered in a vision given to Daniel and ending in the same consummation (Dan. vii, 13, 14, 27). To a man of the world like Nebuchadnezzar the vision was fascinating, as are the things represented by gold and silver and brass and iron to such people, but to a man of God like Daniel the whole thing was represented by wild beasts devouring each other. Chapters iii and vi are another pair showing what it costs to stand for God in these evil times, while chapters iv and v are another pair showing how God will humble all pride, to bring to repentance if at all possible or, if not, to bring to everlasting punishment.

The vision of empire given to Nebuchadnezzar so affected him that instead of making him humble by the honor thus conferred upon him by the God of heaven he became proud in pride and had a great image made and set up in the plain and caused all the people, dom to assemble to worship, ening with death in the fi any who would dare to ref ship the image which he Now here is another strang truth, for at the very end of of the gentiles during the and a half years after the c been taken away there will b image set up by the world po shall then be, and all who worship that image shall b (Rev. xiii, 14-18). The pride a phemy of the king of Babylon in such a saying as "Who is that God that shall deliver you out of my hands?" (iii, 15.) But it will be exceeded by the blasphemy of the antichrist of the last days before he shall be sent alive to the lake of fire (Rev. xiii and xix, 19, 20). Of all the multitudes who were assembled on the plain of Dura that day only three young Jews dared to refuse to bow down to the image, and that was because they knew and worshiped the only Living and True God. When offered a second opportunity to bow down and thus spare their lives they most decidedly refused in the glorious words of verses 17, 18. "May our hearts ever cry, "Our God whom we serve is able."

Bound in their clothing they were cast into the burning fiery furnace, which had been heated seven times hotter than usual, so that the flames slew the men who cast them in. But the three young men walked about in the furnace, unharmed, because the Son of God was with them, and they lost nothing but their bonds. I do most heartily believe what the king's counselors and great men saw when these three came out of the furnace—that there was no smell of fire upon them, nor was a hair of their head singed (verse 27). So it will be in the last days when some shall refuse to receive the mark of the beast or worship him (Rev. xv). See in verses 28-30 of our lesson how God was glorified in these men by the decree of the king that no one should dare to speak anything amiss against a God who could deliver in this way.

The only place where God was seen that day was in the burning fiery furnace, and when God allows any of His people to pass through fiery trials of any kind it is that He may be seen with us and in us, and He will fulfill the words of our Golden Text. In chapter iv we see this proud king humiliated, and the last word in his worldwide epistle is "Those that walk in pride He is able to abase" (iv, 37).

We would do well to adopt as our own the words of Paul in II Tim. iv, 18, "The Lord shall deliver me from every evil work and will preserve me unto His heavenly kingdom" We should remember also that it is the purpose of the Lord to stain the pride of all glory and bring into contempt all the honorable of the earth that the Lord alone may be exalted (Isa. xxiii, 9; ii, 11, 17).

Mr. and Mrs. George Kittleberger of Curwensville, were Clearfield visitors and shoppers yesterday.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

August 10, 1917.
In Camp.

Dearest Mother:—

Arirved safe and sound. Sleep under canvas tonight. My cot will feel like a feather bed. We had a wonderful trip and I enjoyed it very much.

People treated us mighty nice all along the way. We were allowed to get off the train at Hamlet, N. C., to do as we pleased. The ladies gave us all stamped post cards. We all went up town and looked around. At Raleigh, N. C., we got off the train and paraded up and down the streets.

This camp is certainly wonderful. There will be about thirty thousand soldiers when they all get here. It is so much larger than I had imagined. It must cover almost five square miles. Each company has their own wooden mess building and six shower baths. So much of the land will still have to be cleared. Roads have been built all through the camp; trucks are to be seen everywhere. It certainly is an immense scene of activity.

We got into camp about twelve o'clock. The camp is situated about six miles from Augusta. I was put on a detail to unload the freight car and did not get any dinner until almost two. I was pretty hungry. After we had something to eat we commenced to work again, setting up tents, etc. There is a good bit of work to do. About half past four I went down and took a shower bath. It certainly felt good.

The camp is situated on sandy soil, as one fellow said, regular sea shore soil. I have an idea it will be very hot here for a while as it as not cool this afternoon by any means, but I can stand it. They may brag about their good farming land in Virginia and the Carolinas but we didn't see any. Saw lots of cotton and corn, but awfully small and weak looking.

Just write to Camp Hancock, Co. F., 10th Reg., Augusta, Ga., and I will get it all right.

A bunch of the fellows are going to town tonight. I would like to go to see what the town is like, but don't think I will. I need the rest. A trolley runs out here to the camp. I heard that the New York men will camp here also.

I received my comfort bag from the Indiana ... It contained a metal ...er, soap, Bible, ...eedles, thread, ...dhesive tape ... glad to get ...

...wn town, ... fellows ...er you ... this. ...ren-

COURT NOTES

The jury in the case of J. L. Ward, of Graham township, against the Supervisors of Morris township, for injuries which his horse received in traveling over a dangerous piece of road in said township last spring, returned a verdict Thursday afternoon in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $138.80. This was the last case on the list for this week and when the verdict was received court adjourned until Monday. Judge Whitehead, of Williamsport, will be here Monday next and will no doubt hand down his decree in the case of Com. vs. E. D. Schwem & Co. This is the case in which the DuBois wholesalers were prosecuted by the Clearfield County Dry Federation for violation of the liquor law in doing business under their 1916 licenses. The case was tried at May court and resulted in a verdict of guilty. Following the verdict attorneys for the defense made a motion for arrest of pudgement, which motion was argued later and Judge Whitehead has not rendered his decision yet.

L. G. Rosenthal, through his attorneys Miller & Hartswick, brought suit in the Prothonotarys' office Friday morning against C. A. Dunlap in which he asks for $1000 as commission due him from Dunlap for the sale of a coal mine in Woodward township.

The plaintiff alleges that he had an agreement with Dunlap whereby he was to receive $1,000 for selling the mine in question. His agreement or option expired March 15th and that he arranged on March 5th to sell the mine to M. M. Hart, of New York, at the agreed-upon price; that in pursuance to this arrangement Hart came to Osceola and the deal was finally consummated on March 16th. Because the deal was not finally completed before the expiration of the agreement Dunlap refused to pay the commission and the suit followed.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

A devotee of tea is Tess
She drinks an awful lot I guess
Hyson, Oolong, Orange Pekoe
She dotes upon 'em all you know
They are some teas you must confess
And some tease is pretty Tess

New York, Sept. 14—In those far off halycon days before the war a High tea was a formal function that one dressed for. Nowadays all teas are high and we don't dress for 'em we just pay for 'em. With commendable patriotism we have economized and Hooverized and shaved and pared down our menues to a done until they haven't a leg of lamb to stand on. For white bread we have nothing but black looks and we are growing the changes on corn meal fried much, corn bread and cakes every day in the week. When it comes to interrupting our flow of tea that's a different matter. Consuming tea at present is our consuming passion. What matter if the price be steep you have to steep the tea anyway. Let them put the price up we'll get even by putting the tea down so "Polly put the kettle on we'll all have tea."

A tea cart for the summer porch or the winter hearth is an indispensable adjunct of the modern home. A hostess whose white hands flutter effectively above the silver tea service and the fragile egg-shell tea cups and whose modulated voice coos sweet as the cubes of sugar, "How many lumps?" "Lemon or cream?" and "Do you take rum?" needs no more effective phrases in her conversational bag of tricks to be a scintillating success

The legion of lucious sandwiches, fantastic fairy cakes and tosted muffins, scones and crumpets continue to be popular tea table trimmings but quite the smartest thing to serve with your afternoon tea at the present moment is the war cake in all its eggless milkless, butterless deliciousness.

Sandwiches of the assorted bran, brown and oatmeal war breads are also the well bred thing to serve.

In New York "When in doubt go to tea" is the popular slogan. The tea shops are as numerous as they are attractive. Though the big hotels of course all have their more or less swagger and distinctive rooms given over to the imbibers of the aromatic amber beverage the quaint and tiny tea shops with their home made goodies have a feminine following all their own. Those who wish to see, be seen, gossip, dance, flirt a lot and drink tea a little flock to the smart hotel tea rooms. Those who wish to chat, flirt a little and drink a lot, hie to "The Fernery," "The Tally ho," which is made out of an old stable with the tea served in stalls, "The Colonial," "Vanity Fair," "The Picadilly," "The Pierrot," "The Sign of the Green Tea Pot," "Mary Elizabeth," "The Rose Tea Shop," "The Roof Tree" "The Tea Cosy," "The Chimney Corner," "The Sign of the Green Parrot," or any other one of the sixty seven varieties of tea shops that infest Manhattan ways and byways.

Down in some of the South American countries they have a tea all their own so the high cost of shipping tea from China and Ceylon for the nonce means nothing in their five o'clock Tea Hour. This South American tea which is made from the dried leaves of a tree which grows in the forest fastness of Uruguay is called Yerbe and is made by pouring boiling water on a tea spoonful of the pulverized leaves and sugar. It is prepared in a small dried gourd and drunk through a silver tube which has perforations in the bottom that act as a strainer.

The gourd and tube are called a "mate" and the tea with the service is "mate' yerbe" just as we say a "cup of tea." Many of the gourds are most elaborately banded and ornamented in silver and the tubes also are usually of the pure silver elegantly chased The older generations of the natives and the "rancheros" or cowboys have a delightful if unsanitary custom of refilling the same gourd with hot water and passed it around in turn to all parties present for a suck through the same tube

This yerbe tea possesses most beneficial and strengthening qualities and none of the evil tannin of our own tea It has been introduced in the English and French armies with great success

Who knows if the price of tea continues to soar we may get soar and take to yerbe yet. But at least we'll insist on an individual gour and tube at each tea party.

The 79th session of the Allegheny annual conference of the United Brethren in Christ will convene in Johnstown, Pa, September 19, 1917 at 9 o'clock a m Bishop W. M. Bell of Washington, D. C., will preside Rev. B. J. Hummel will leave on Monday evening and the delegate G L Barger will go on Tuesday

The Variety of Millinery Shown Here Is Sure to Please Every Taste

Because of our extreme care in studying fashions and making selection of millinery that would best accompany them, women are regarding our collections as supreme for style and variety. We doubt if any PRETTY hat has been overlooked. And there are so many shapes and so many exclusive trimming features that it is hard to think of you not finding a shape best suited to your face.

Here are the draped crown effects, sailors, tams and the equally striking small, no-brim shapes. Velvets are equally as prominent. In a word, the showing is well worth an immediate visit to the store to prove to yourself the superiority of variety, style and price.

Government Regulation!

COAL COAL COAL

We can all work together earnestly and conscientiously for an equitable adjustment of prices and work and hope for revision upward, in order that the all important object be accomplished; the greatest possible production of coal tonnage, on a fair basis to both the producer and consumer.

In the mean time if you want to know the exact responsibilities and penalties under the regulating Act, as it applies to Mine Operators and Shippers and Consumers, we will be glad to mail you promptly a pamphlet which we have had printed containing the text of the Law and the PENALTIES, as they apply to the Coal and Coke Business.

The pamphlet is free and will be furnished with our compliments on receipt of your request.
